FOREWORD

The two hands . . . a moment apart . . . one-waiting man . . . one—the God of the Universe . . . between their grasp . . . a spark . . . life. Man waits . . . ordinary clay . . . divine life about to invade it. The Herculean hand of man . . . limp . . . waiting. The touch! And it is the dawn of humanity . . . the dawn of desire . . . knowledge . . . understanding . . . power physical . . . power thoughtful . . . movement . . . love. The search begins . . . the pain encountered . . . overwhelms, strengthens, remolds the hand. The hand stretches . . . the tendons tighten. The fist . . . pounding for life . . . pounding at life . . . pounding the barrier that obscures meaning.

Man's hand. The outward symbol of his being . . . his creativity . . . his power . . . his passion. ffands of men . . . moving through history . . . down the endless ages past . . . together . . . joined to search for the good life. Families . . . villages . . . city-states . . . nations . . . empires. Living in peace. living in war . . . conquering . . . expanding . . . stretching . . . the hand's power infinitely magnified . . . collectively striving . . . toiling . . . stained by blood. sweat. tears . . . no stopping . . . continually searching . . . together.

The twentieth century. the 60's . . . the moments. days. weeks. months zooming . . . life flying with them. Hands reach out . . . milking experience from time . . . tearing pieces from the passing moments. Hands busy . . . arranging. sorting. matching the pieces . . . Discovering a puzzle—why life? The end. the purpose . . . what are they? —No answer . . . pieces never fit . . . pieces missing . . . keep searching.

Searching hands in the world of learning. Wesleyan hands . . . old and young . . . students. professors. and administrator. Education . . . the fundamentals. the classics. the unique . . . !

The old hands . . . stern . . . firm . . . guiding . . . inspiring . . . correcting . . . urging . . . demanding the difficult. expecting the best . . . at times rewarded . . . at times ignored. Discouraged . . . delighted . . . bearing the trivialities . . . tolerating exams. records. grades. The open hand . . . the teacher of the young. the unlearned. the confused . . . remembering the confused with infinite patience . . . hearing questions . . . asking question . . . pointing the direction. Living for the moment of the spark when two hands will again clasp each other . . . joining the seeker in the search.

The young hands . . . eager . . . busy . . . listless . . . lazy . . . motivated . . . glimpsing truth. Plato in the Ad Building . . . Bach and Van Gogh in Loar Hall . . . Statistics at 8:00 . . . Hands . . . typing. applauding. joined in a basketball huddle. slamming the floor in a cheer. "slinging hash" in a Saga kitchen. pushing a pencil til 3:00 a.m.

These and more . . . all a part of the search. Young hands and old hands . . . reaching up for the spark. the knowledge. the answers . . . groping in darkness . . . basking in the light of new discoveries . . . loving to stretch. Rungs on a ladder . . . disappointments and failures . . . moments of achievements . . . to all things we hold fast. Turn the pages . . . view the hands of Wesleyan!

DEDICATION . . .

One of the values of higher education is its characteristic fusing of environments. We become acquainted with students who are products of many kinds of cities, interests, and families. Our backgrounds are different, and we are, in some degree at least, proud of them. Our experiences as village or city dwellers, members of families of high or low incomes, and past activities as leaders or followers influence our new learning. From these and other details come the foundations which allow us to accept and absorb the carnival of opportunities around us. They have set the emotional and academic stage on which we participate in the comedy and tragedy of college life.

Perhaps the largest part of this heritage is our parents. They have conditioned a great deal of the rest of our background by making some early choices for us. They have encouraged us both subtly and harshly; they have made some show respect in compliance with their wishes and some, rebellion in rejection of their views. They have led us because they were our first contact with the living world and the first people we looked to see and ask. Our devotion to our parents entails more than thanks for sending a check for tuition, filling the refrigerator for vacations, or giving friendly advice. It is more than the memory of early insistence on music lessons, explanations of their conceptions of right and wrong, or their loving glow as the family gathers on Christmas Eve. Our devotion is our appreciation for their attendance, for their love and concern for us, and for their simply being there.

Biological parents have contributed healthy, happy guidance to most of us: but we must also recognize other members of the adult world who have inspired us. We laud the ones who became our early ideals as we listened to their tales, watched their skills, and admired their actions. We praise also those who became examples of our developing characters and philosophies. We thank those who do not say, "We have made a mess and expect you to be the world's salvation," but say to us, "We are doing our best and expect you to do the same." This kind of handshake gives us a forceful boast. Their guiding hands lift us challengingly to fulfill the aim of mankind—to find the ultimate capacity of our minds and souls.

If we will seriously believe this, our best selves will mean being real students and scholars. Well-rounded personalities can not be ends of education but the probable results of our seeking to be full persons. We are thankful to those who exemplified to us high and worthy possibilities and truly attained them. To those who were our first knowledge of feelings and laws higher than ourselves, the first to expect us to stand up as well as to look up, we dedicate the 1962-1963 MURMURMONTIS.

PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE

One of the most entreating portions of the Bible is to be found in the 90th Psalm. "Let the favor of the Lord our God be upon us, and establish thou the work of our hands upon us, yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

By means of our hands we create—we help mold a world and ourselves in the image of that which is highest and best.

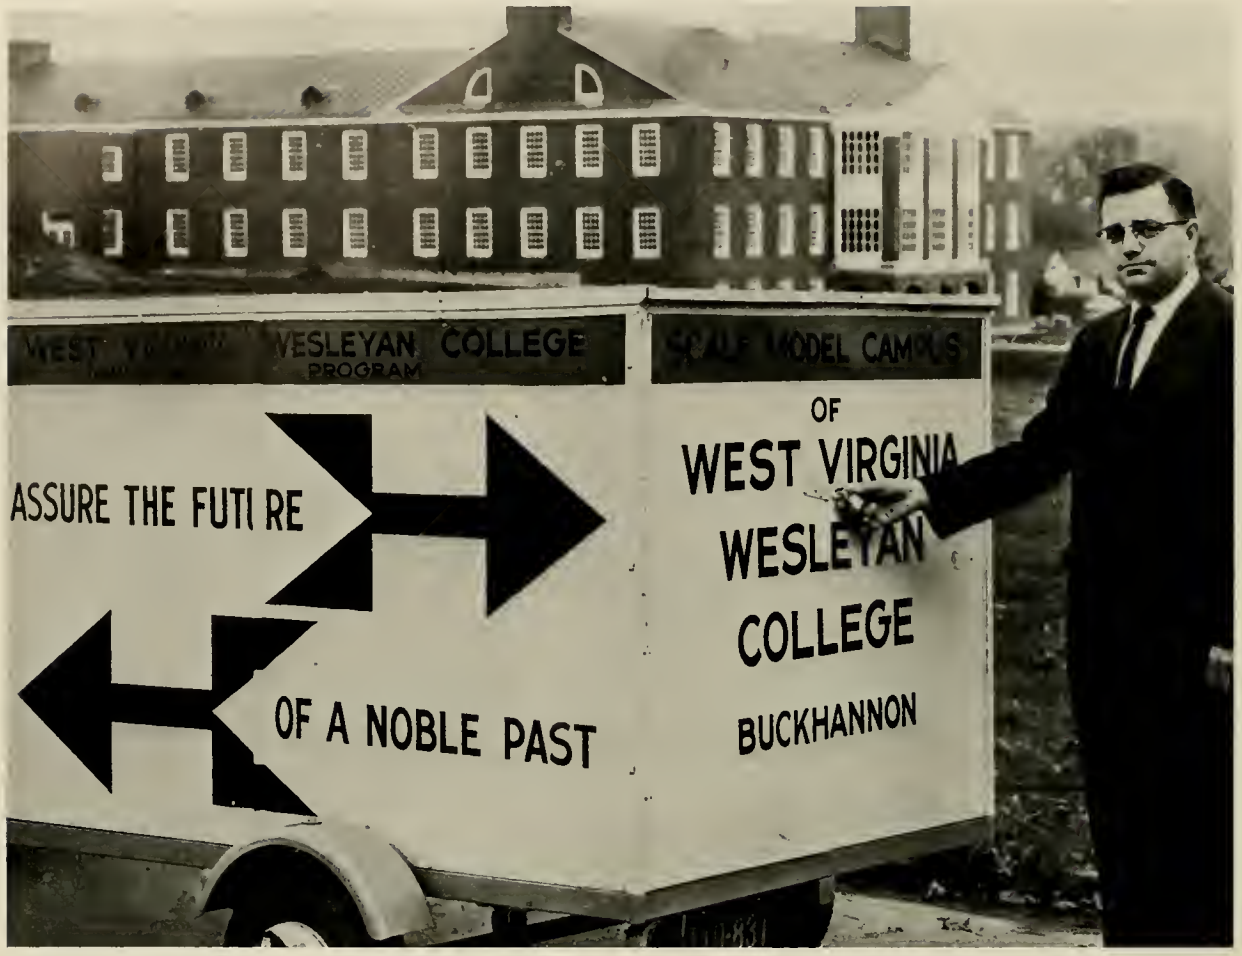
By means of our hands we communicate—hands clasped in friendship express confidence, affection, and mutual respect.

By means of our hands we control—shape our environment and the things of life in such a way as to provide for the common good.

As we come to the end of another year at West Virginia Wesleyan College, may the work of our hands be so established as to assure an even greater future for Wesleyan and all mankind.

Stanley H. Martin
President

VICE-PRESIDENT



Mr. Bucklin is shown preparing to leave on tour with the specially constructed receptacle for the scale model campus of the "Wesleyan of the future."

L. BUCKLIN
Vice-President

Mr. Leonard W. Bucklin, serving Wesleyan for the third year as vice-president, has been extremely busy this year, touring the country with a scale-model of Wesleyan's projected campus. He is the general supervisor in charge of raising funds for Wesleyan's expansion program, and is working in conjunction with its Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Mr. Bucklin has, for the past two years, been director of the Strawberry Festival held each summer in Buckhannon.

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

ORLO STRUNK
A.B., West Virginia Wesleyan College: S.T.B., Ph.D.,
Boston University.

Aside from serving Wesleyan as Academic Dean, Orlo J. Strunk, Jr., is also acting as Registrar, with the assistance of Charles R. Day. In his capacity as Academic Dean of the college, Dr. Strunk is the chief disciplinary officer of Wesleyan. Dr. Strunk is also chairman of the College Publications Board, which sets the standards and regulations of all college periodicals, weeklies, and bulletins.

Although Dr. Strunk's busy life is filled with the carrying out of his duties, he still finds time to write. He has written several books, among them, his most recent, Religion: A Psychological Orientation. He also contributes to many magazine articles on his favorite subjects, religion and psychology.

Dean Strunk is one of those "hands," who is endowed with the ability to coordinate the hand and the mind to produce works of literary recognition. His importance to Wesleyan's campus cannot be underestimated.

CAMPUS COORDINATOR AND DIRECTOR OF CAMPUS CENTER

JAMES STANSBURY

As Campus Coordinator, Mr. Stansbury is in charge of all official occasions, summer conferences, non-academic personnel, and scheduling of college facilities, and the general supervision of the information desk. As Campus Center director, he has responsibility for the operation of all aspects of this facility, and is directly responsible to the President and the administration of the College.

A familiar scene during Wesleyan's expansion program: Mr. Stansbury conferring with President Martin.

HEYWARD A. WILLIAMS

TREASURER

"Yes, you may have a ten-day extension on your tuition," is a sentence often quoted by Mr. Heyward Williams, College treasurer. He and his staff are responsible for the balancing of the books, and the accuracy of the financial records of the College.

DIRECTORS OF ADMISSIONS

Wesleyan's Winter Wonderland

RAYMOND W. KISER

CHAPLAIN

In addition to teaching courses in Bible, Sidney T. Davis also serves Wesleyan as Chaplain. He plans and directs the chapel services, and he makes the arrangements for the speakers visiting our campus. In addition Reverend Davis counsels students and serves as advisor to the exchange pupils.

THELMA KESSLER

Not a soul in sight on this wintery night!

DEAN OF STUDENTS

Advisor to the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Community Council. Director of the Student Personnel Center. and Professor of Psychology are some of the positions held by Mr. Richard A. Cunningham, Dean of Students. During his years at Wesleyan, through his enthusiastic and close contact with the students, he has become one of the most respected administrators of the "Wesleyan family." Dean Cunningham has been one of those "hands" in an advisory capacity, and as a friend to all Wesleyanites.

Dean Cunningham caught again by the camera's unselective eye.

RICHARD CUNNINGHAM

SAMUEL M. ROSS

DEAN OF MEN

"Sam" Ross came to Wesleyan in 1956 as a member of the Athletic Department. In 1958, he was promoted to Head Football Coach. a position which he held for 5 years. In 1962, Mr. Ross was appointed Dean of Men.

His duties in this position include individual and group counseling, Student Aid. men's housing. and advising and maintaining the general good conduct of the men students.

MARION McBRAIR

DEAN OF WOMEN

In her second year as Dean of Women, Dr. Marion McBrair has continued to serve the women of Wesleyan in an efficient and charming manner.

Dean McBrair has made many new policies, and brought back some of the traditional policies, which were lost in the rush of a growing college. Dr. McBrair acts as advisor to the Panhellenic Council, and in addition offers individual counseling to all students.

Two familiar faces at Wesleyan.

NELLIE WILSON

COLLEGE HOSTESS

Miss Nellie G. Wilson, College Hostess, serves Wesleyan as the official greeter of all visitors to the campus. Miss Wilson's hands are busy in such a capacity. She is in charge of reception and entertainment of guests.

Miss Wilson also serves as Head Resident at Jenkins Hall, and helps to maintain general etiquette in Benedum Dining Room. She is a woman indeed beloved by the students of Wesleyan.

WILLIAM B. HICKS

The primary aim of the art and music department is to acquaint students with new experiences, experiences which will develop clear insights, lasting appreciations, and personal enrichments. Once students have learned to enjoy the arts, they are able to apply them with the proper interpretation and expression.

The art department had provided seven exhibits this year. The major ones begin with the Faculty Exhibit in October, followed by the Second Contemporary Christian Art Festival, and the Graduates Exhibit.

The music department also had their share of entertainment. The Annual Winter Band Concert, "Night at the Opera," the Spring Choir Concert, and the Christmas program, Magnificat.

The division of Language and Literature had as its chairman this year Dr. Leonard Roberts. There are 14 full and part-time members, representing some increased strength in English and speech.

The division as a whole again sponsored the Canadian Players Foundation which brought us Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, and Shaw's Arms and the Man.

English was made more effective by offering English Review, a course for freshmen needing individual help. The Department of Language, at the end of this year, is also looking forward to an expansion, due to the growing interest in languages in the present shrinking world. In drama, a fine major production this year was Antigone, with some one-act plays scheduled for the second semester. In speech, the Forensic Club participated in debating events in the area, aiming at varsity competition next year. The whole division feels that it has been braced by many new challenges.

Keeping in line with the purpose of the division, two new professors have been added to the science department. Curtis C. Wilkins, in the Physical Chemistry department, and Alfred Moye, an alumnus of Wesleyan, who is doing graduate work at the University of Michigan. Mr. Moye replaces Dr. Wright, who is doing extra study in England. A new Instrumental Analysis lab has been established for senior work in chemistry, and a T Plotter was purchased for the mathematics computer lab.

Again this year, Wesleyan was host to the National Science Foundation Institute for outstanding Junior High teachers, and a course in Chemical Bond Approach Chemistry was available to outstanding high school students. Under the supervision of Dr. A. Gould, the State Academy of Science is planning a visiting professor program.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

The major objective of the division is to increase an understanding and appreciation of one's own socialization and growth. Along with this knowledge a student can develop good citizenship by being tolerant of other ideas and by learning about different cultures. In this way a student will be able to think objectively and to establish logical answers for the problems of society. A person who likes social sciences and who has special abilities in the field can develop and broaden his knowledge into a vocational scale.

The social science department also has various clubs and organizations which provide activity for Wesleyan's campus. Teachers and students often come together for evenings of informative discussion and enlightening conversation.

The division of Bible, Religion, and Philosophy is essentially concerned with giving a primary background in the said subjects to future teachers, ministers, and directors of religious education. It further presents an introduction of insight directed from the individual to his environment. Courses under this division integrate the discoveries and procedures of science and philosophy in conjunction with the essentials of Christianity and vocational preparation.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Jose Franquiz, the division brought two nationally known philosophers, Dr. Charles Hartshorne, and Dr. Romanell, to Wesleyan's campus. Due to the enthusiastic reception given to these speakers, the division is making plans to have similar speakers brought to the campus in the future.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

A well-organized and working part of our campus community is the division of Arts and Sciences. This division meets monthly to discuss projects and problems.

With the chairman, Mr. Shattuck, the division members work to better understand the division, each department and each division within it. The members made a report on their own work, objectives and plans for the future.

Another project which the division explored was that of discovering ways in which they might better prepare incoming freshmen to the ways and means of education on the college level.

Along with these duties, the main purpose of the division of Arts and Sciences is to train people who are planning professional work in the related fields after graduation, or who are going on to further studies.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL

The coordination and establishment of a satisfactory government of the student body and for the student body of West Virginia Wesleyan is the purpose of the Community Council. The major responsibility of the council is to formulate and execute the laws and regulations regarding the campus life, with the representation of the student body. The council also has as its function the integration of all phases of campus life, including the academic, social, and constituent parts. To strengthen the relationship between faculty and student, the council provides a common meeting ground where each individual concern is given attention and consideration.

With the institution of rules regarding the traditions of Frosh, the council has seen this past year the unity of an incoming class. The reactivation of old traditions regarding Seniors has been well accepted by the total campus community.

The Community Council is extremely important in coordinating the activities and charters of various organizations.

Although the majority of the work done by the Council is never brought out in plain sight, the campus may realize it in the everyday life of the college.

Their work for the Homecoming week-end included planning the coronation. purchase of the awards and selection of judges for Wesleyantics, house decorations. and the Homecoming parade. The committee also supervised the judging of door decorations at Christmas.

An innovation for May Day weekend was enforced by the committee's return to the purpose of "Co-ordinating." The committees utilized the other committees to do the work.

AWARDS

The Awards committee of the Community Council establishes the standards for the various awards given during the year. The committee plans and executes the Recognition Day Assembly held each year in May. In addition to determining the recipients of the Wesleyan Key, the group also selects Wesleyan's outstanding academic and social leaders for nomination of listing in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

To establish and develop a more intense and fuller curriculum, and to insure the college community of an academic and cultural program which will widen horizons, and establish new ones, this is the basic concern of this committee.

A main concern of the academic affairs committee this year has been the discussion and evaluation of an honor system at Wesleyan. Other activities under discussion this year also were library hours and cultural enrichment programs in connection with the new Benedum Campus Community Center.

TRAFFIC

Regulation and administration of the laws governing safe conduct of the use of motor vehicles at Wesleyan is the purpose of the Traffic Commission of the Community Council.

However, for one semester, the SCOW Committee functioned efficiently under the direction of Peter Darling, with Mrs. E. Vaughn serving as advisor. The committee planned and held several All-Campus dances, sponsored campus movies and cultural activities, and maintained the offices and bookstore. Many of the members of the Old Scow Committee are presently serving on the Program Planning Board of the New Campus Community Center.

In order to plan and schedule various events, besides the regularly scheduled ones, the New Campus Center Program Board was instituted. Under this board there are several committees: Recreation, Cultural, Social, and various others. THE 1963 MURMURMONTIS

"It is to you then, Dr. Brown, that we dedicate the 1962 MURMURMONTIS . . ."

Heartaches, heart attacks, and joyful hearts are typically found in the members of the staff of the 1963 MURMURMONTIS. Working on a limited budget, the staff has tried this year to produce a yearbook not only for seniors, nor for Greeks, nor for students alone. The staff has tried to produce a book for posterity; a book without prejudice, censorship, or bias. In the 1963 MURMURMONTIS, the staff has tried to touch every phase of college life, both academic and social, and to present information of a variety that each member of the total community will be reached, and find some small thing that will make the 1963 MURMURMONTIS an especial keepsake.

With the wonderful help of advisor, Creel Cornwell, and staff photographer, Howard Hiner, plus the enthusiasm of many of the staff, everybody can relax and wait for the finished product.

THE PHAROS

THE EDITOR

"Mr. President, do you think . . ."

"To present the news features of campus life, interestingly and objectively"—this is the purpose of the PHAROS.

During the past year, Bill Canterbury, editor-in-chief, assisted by his managing editors, Gene Cobb and Curt Downer, have worked to the best of their ability to fulfill this purpose by adding several new features and columns to the paper's general layout.

Probably the most widely read column is "Moore's Meddles," which reveals opinions on various "hot" issues. Another main feature is Curt Downer's thought-provoking article of world affairs, "The World With Comment." Don Hart, sports editor, has had a challenging position to fill in which he did exceptionally well with "Hart Attacks." Sue Crocker's "Within these Walls." and Who's Whose, which announces pinnings, engagements, and marriages.

The Associated Collegiate Press Conference in Detroit this year was attended by the managing editors.

The Annual Spring Literary Contest sponsored by the PHAROS offers prizes for winning stories, poems, and essays.

The PHAROS this year has remained the voice of the citizens it serves through the noteworthy section of letters to the editor, giving them a chance to express themselves through the media of the press, which cannot and will not be suppressed.

The work of the brothers centers around a sevenfold purpose: to organize life around Jesus Christ, as the Master of Life, to cultivate a more intimate Christian fellowship among men of Methodist preference, to develop effective leadership of the laity and clergy in the church, to participate in worthwhile Service projects, to provide Christian training and encourage a study of the Bible, to acquaint Methodist men with the history, activities and purpose of the church, and to promote wholesome social activities.

Some of the many activities of Alpha Gamma Chapter this year have been a picnic for brothers and their dates, a Halloween Party in conjunction with Kappa Phi, service sorority for women, sponsoring of a Christmas program at the Children's Home in Elkins, West Virginia, visitations to prisoners, fund-raising drives, and a banquet Dinner-Dance for STE and Kappa Phi.

President of the fraternity is Randy Wilson. The fraternity advisors are Reverend Rossing Smith, and Reverend Sidney Davis, Wesleyan's Chaplain.

"From Greenland's icy mountains, to India's coral shores" are the words of a mission hymn. Wesleyan can be indeed proud of its foreign students. With the total inception into the campus life, the student body has realized that this group of eager students is in no sense foreign. Bringing with them the cultural and social background of many countries overseas, these individuals have enriched each area of life they have entered into at Wesleyan.

Under the direction and inspiration of Reverend Sidney Davis, the foreign students have presented several programs and added a special inter-continental "flavor" to Wesleyan.

Three one-act plays were presented and directed by students. They were Hello Out There by William Saroyan. Tad Mosel's Impromptu, and The American Dream by Edward Albee. A melodrama was presented also. This class gives the Wesleyanites an opportunity to participate and stimulate appreciation for the art of drama.

MENC

The Music Educators National Conference at Wesleyan is a helpful organization to students enrolled in music education. It stimulates and fosters definite preparation for those who will be teaching music in our schools. The group has interesting programs at meetings, sponsors campus and intercollegiate activities, and arranges trips to significant events off campus. These activities this year include joint programs with other chapters, a discussion at a division meeting concerning "Our Role in Music Education" and an All-Campus Talent Show. A guest speaker of the group was Mr. Herbert Buhler who spoke on "Psychology of Music." A particularly important journey took the Wesleyan MENC to Pittsburgh to see and hear Van Cliburn in a concert.

Jane Agnew is the president of the group, and Mr. Owen West is advisor. Other officers are Bonnie Vitez, vice-president; Lynn Oliver, secretary; and Jerry Cortese, treasurer. They are doing a commendable job of preparing music educators.

The choir presented Bach's "Magnificat" with the full choir and orchestra at Christmas. The Girls' Ensemble also presented "The Ceremony of Carols" by Britton. The choir also traveled to Clarksburg to assist in the Reformation Day Service at which Dr. Norman V. Peale spoke. May 25, 1962, began the biggest weekend in the college career of the Class of 1962. Commencement and Baccalaureate activities were held May 27, and 170 Wesleyan seniors became graduated. When these graduates are added to the number who were graduated in January, the total receiving diplomas is 224. Two scholars had the especial honor of graduating magna cum laude. Miss Judith Feltham received a bachelor of science degree in Chemistry, mngna cum laude. Michael Waroblak, also a Chemistry major, received a bachelor of science degree, magna cum laude. Five cum laude degrees, and five honorary degrees were also conferred at Commencement.

Graduation Day began with a recognition breakfast for the members of the Benzene Ring. The Academic Procession commenced at 10:00 A.M. The procession was followed by Baccalaureate Services in Atkinson Chapel, with Dr. Stanley H. Martin, Wesleyan's President, delivering the sermon, "Be Ye Transformed."

Where do we go from here?

That Surround Us Here Today.

The well-earned degree.

The look of accomplishment.

Following the service was the annual graduation dinner.

The Shannon Bells, Wesleyan's carillon, played by Professor Robert Shafer, began the procession before the Commencement Program. Commencement started at 2:30 p.m. The speaker was Methodist Bishop W. Vernon Middleton who received an honorary degree from the college. He spoke on "Commitment and Reality."

Dean Orlo Strunk, Jr. gave additional honorary degrees to Rev. J. C. Fisher, Warner Sallman, Mason Crickard, M. J. Rathbone, The Wesleyan College Band, directed by Owen L. West, played the processional and recessional.

The closing activity of the week-end was the "Bon Voyage" gathering in the Oak Grove on campus. A full day celebrated the end of four years of study at Wesleyan and made the college become once more an alma mater.

ARRIVAL

"I feel like someone's watching me."

"I hope Mom stays long enough to clean up."

Freshmen have to possess an extra supply of energy in order to survive the tedious seven days known as Freshman Week. Overflowing with activity, this week above all others brings adjustment and adventure for these new college students.

At this particular time, many of the hopes, goals, and dreams are pushed into the background by the concern to conquer that dread disease, nostalgia. Each student meets another with watery eyes and weak knees. To compensate, there is the friendliness and approval of new faces.

Helping Hands.

"Women!"

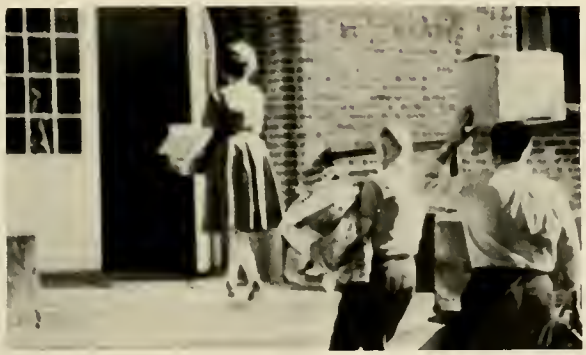
The mountains grow.

"I'm paying for this, too!"

Students arrived on the campus, and immediately were welcomed to the class of '66. The dormitory counselors made an attempt to guide and aid the students in finding their name tags and the right dormitory. By noon, after the Frosh were completely exhausted from unpacking boxes and suitcases, a lunch break was indeed in order. The Freshmen, as a class, attended their first Convocation after lunch. Following the introduction to Wesleyan, parents leave their sons and daughters amidst tears for some, and joy for others.

A well-needed airing.

"Home!"



"Son, it's only for four years."

INTRODUCTION

. . . to Agnes Howard Hall.

. . . to Saga.

The week goes fast for most freshmen due to the many functions and budding friendships. The campus center mixers and dining halls become areas in which students begin to become really acquainted. At the formal reception, they began to know not only classmates, but faculty and administrators. Later in the week came the battery of tests-aptitude, intelligence. and attitude.

ASSIMILATION

The mixing process begins.

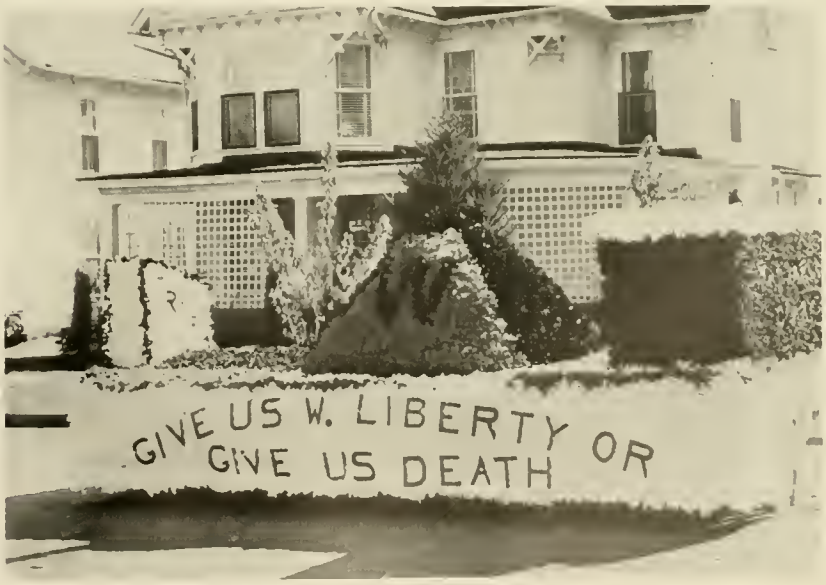
The class became more united as the Frosh learned the rules and regulations they must follow as lowly underclassmen. Beanies, wide smiles, cheery "Good day sirs and ladies," and casual puns became the status symbols of the freshman. Participating in football cheers, the Alma Mater, and general school spirit, the class of 1966 radiated with the enthusiasm of the determined group an aura of exuberance. The first steps were over, and the future began to look hopeful and bright. Dig out those old hopes, dreams, and aspirations, and get to it!



Freshman unity is kept "afloat."

HOMECOMING, 1962!

Queen Jane reigns over the parade.

Autumn at Wesleyan always leads to fun and festivities. Homecoming is our most eventful social weekend of the season. This year the special weekend began on the afternoon of October 19. The program started out with the coronation of Queen Jane O'Brien. Her court. Masako Ohno. senior attendant. Lou Ellen Blake, junior attendant. Rosemary Hadden. sophomore attendant. and Janie Davis. freshman attendant. looked on with admiration as President Martin crowned Jane O'Brien. Homecoming Queen for 1962. Miss Judy Bauserman. Homecoming Queen of 1961. presented a bouquet to the new queen. After the ceremony. Freal F. Crites. President of the Alumni Council. officially opened the Homecoming Weekend.

That evening. Wesleyantics was held in Atkinson Chapel. All of the Greeks, plus several independent organizations vied for the winner's trophies. Alpha Xi Delta ran away with first place for their presentation of "Street Scene." The second place trophy was given to its tie winners: Phi Sigma Epsilon with "Here Comes the Circus," and McCusky Hall Men with "Merry Morticians." Theta Xi took third place with its showing of the "Wesleyan Side Story." Gary Dorian and Dave Heatwole. were MC's for the program.

That's what you get for opening your mouth once too often.

Saturday was a beautiful day for a parade and football game. The annual parade consisted of floats. Wesleyan's president, deans, band, cheerleaders, the Queen, and her court. The floats were judged during the parade, and the results were: Alpha Gamma Delta, with "Boil 'Em, Bobcats," first place, Phi Sigma Epsilon with "Smoke 'Em Out, Bobcats," second place.

House decorations were judged, with Theta Xi triumphantly accepting the first place trophy with the theme: "The Tender Trap to Topple Toppers." Kappa Alpha Order received honorable mention.

After the football game, fraternities and dormitories held open house. In the evening, two traditional dances were held. One was for the returning alumni, and the other for Wesleyan's community family. The tremendous turnout to the "Circus Time" Homecoming Dance gave an especially happy and successful ending to Wesleyan's most exciting weekend. Amid tears of reminiscence and happiness, each person returned to his normal routine filled with aspiration and dreams to last until next Homecoming.

Third place: Theta Xi.

WINTER AT WESLEYAN

'Twas the month of December and all over the campus, the feeling that that time of year was ever so near, whispered throughout Wesleyan's body as well as the trees.

December 1 marked the beginning with a special Christmas in Art Exhibit through December 20 in the front halls of Loar Hall.

Christmas is noted to carry the warmest of feelings topping every year. With no exception, was the community of West Virginia Wesleyan College. As though an electric charge had been sent secretly to all, the members of Wesleyan's large family revealed a wave of connected stimulation. In the halls of a dormitory could be heard, periodically at first, "Constantly" as the passing days brought Christmas and its vacation nearer, the familiar and wonderful sounds of traditional carols and Christmas songs, pouring from one room, and then another. Here and there were other small evidences of everyone's enthusiasm in the form of all kinds of Christmas decorations. Perhaps everyone's attitude was even warmer.

Along with this individual appreciation came an added incentive from the Community Council with their offer of a prize for the best outside door decorations including all dormitories, the three off-campus women's residences, and the fraternity houses. All efforts were approved and appreciated.

An annual treat for the Kris Kringle Kraft Klub was the preparation of a Christmas Party for the children of Buckhannon and the surrounding area. No reward could be more fulfilling than that gained from the appreciation these children showed as they participated in all offered. Being able to give to these needy children, and those lacking in other areas, is the thrill and the meaning of Christmas.

Other organizations of the campus also do their share of giving whatever bit of Christmas joy they can to the children of the area in the form of parties, fun, gifts, spirit, love, and hope—this is done willingly.

"Oh, Christmas tree . . ."

Heralds of the Christmas season.

"Oh, no, here we go again!"

The Wesleyan pioneer spirit.

Within Wesleyan's people themselves is much expression of the Christmas spirit as the Greek organizations plan and enjoy their own Christmas parties and dances. However, the Greeks do not stand alone in their enjoyment of parties and dances for an Annual Christmas Formal was enjoyed by all.

Another side of Christmas programs of enjoyment was that welcomed from the Music Department. Much work goes into their efforts and the returns are superb. Such a showing was the Christmas Band Concert. The Wesleyan Chapel Choir presented in conjunction with the Orchestra Bach's "Magnificat." Both of these programs represent a truly magnificent example of Wesleyan's talents.

Not to be forgotten is the Annual Tree Lighting Ceremony. This beautiful rite involved all of Wesleyan's family. Students gathered at different ends of the campus and with lighted candles met at the decorated tree. In conjunction with this age old custom was the "Hanging Of The Green" presented as a special Christmas Chapel.

As the days had gone by, it came time for us to leave to spend Christmas with our loved ones. Anticipating a bright new year, Christmas at Wesleyan left in the hearts of all a joy and peace of mind to last the whole year through.

"Silent Night."

"Bisions of tuger tums all tanced in tear will tittle teads."

Mr. David J. Brown

Buckhannon, West Va.

Dear Mr. Brown:

First, let me say that I was both flattered and delighted that you considered me worthy of selecting your Murmurmontis Queen.

After pondering, one by one, the photographs that you sent me and, finally, selecting Brenda, Virginia and Jane - in that order - it occurred to me since I am not really accustomed to this type of work that perhaps I had better call in a specialist to render a truly professional opinion.

I racked up the pictures and walked across Broadway to Earl Wilson's office. (It is a well known fact in these parts that as an expert in matters of pulchritude Mr. Wilson - the widely syndicated columnist - has no peer). Earl tucked the photos under his arm, took them with him to his Celebrity Column Radio Show where he discussed them with his panel of guests and confirmed my judgment 100% by also voting for Brenda, Virginia and Jane.

Please express my felicitations to these lovely young ladies and say that I wish them well in whatever they do.

Yours very truly,

BD/t

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity Council was established on Wesleyan's campus to organize the fraternities into one united group. Today it serves as the governing body of these fraternities, setting up rules for rushing and settling any disputes which might arise among the five groups. The total number of fraternities on the Wesleyan campus is five.

Another of the functions of the Council is upholding the newly-formed tradition of Greek Week by joining with Panhellenic Council in planning the week's activities. The President of the I.F.C. this year is Daniel Pearce, with Dean Richard A. Cunningham serving as advisor to the group.

No matter what season, place, or event, the five Greek organizations of the men on Wesleyan's campus radiate a spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

A dream of the future—the New Women's Residence Hall will house the sorority suites, and the Panhellenic Council.

The Panhellenic council was established to create and maintain good relations between the sororities on Wesleyan's campus. Ever expanding, the Council accepted the petition for standing of Tau Omega Chi as a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, a national social fraternity for women.

Under discussion this year, and a topic of main discussion at the Board of Directors meeting was the new Women's Residence Hall which will be ready for occupancy in September of 1963. At first, it was hoped that the dormitory would be completely Panhellenic with entire wings for each of the four sororities, plus a suite and lounge to serve for teas, informal get-togethers and the like. However, due to the increased enrollment planned for the fall, this has been impossible.

Under the presidency of Judith Bennett and the advisorship of Dr. Marion McBriar, Dean of Women, the Council this year has tried to reach all areas of college life envolved in the sisterhood of sororities.

The Alpha Gams exhibit leadership, scholarship, and active participation in all areas of campus activities. Their enthusiasm and hard work was rewarded at Homecoming this year with a first place trophy in float competition. Once again this year the Alpha Gams proudly received the Panhellenic Scholarship Award for scholastic achievement.

Alpha Gamma Delta is particularly proud of their spring and fall pledge classes. These "special" Alpha Gams were spotlighted at the January "Snow Ball" Pledge Dance. The senior sorority members are also recognized at the annual Spring Formal dinner-dance. Additional activities this year included a hayride, participation in intramurals, warm weather picnics and swimming parties, a French party, and the formal rush party "All Hands on Deck."

The Altruistic project this year contributed to a Speech Correction Center at Syracuse U. Alpha Gams also held a Christmas party for underprivileged children and aided KKKK repair toys for their children's party.

Big smiles dominate on Formal Initiation night.

Gamma Kappa Chapter at Wesleyan again saw the ADPis put their hearts into May Sing. Last spring the sisters were in the singing of "Brigadoon" by Terry Tucker. Reflections on 1962 include the Founder's Day Tea and a spring retreat to plan activities for the ensuing year. The chapter also was well represented by Barbara Benker serving as "Delta Xi Sweetheart," Ellen Davidson as "Theta Xi Sweetheart," and Ginger McLardy who was chosen as the "Bell of the KA Dixie Ball." The senior members of the group said their farewells at the annual Black and White Diamond Dance in May and they enjoyed their last party with the sorority at the "Hawaiian Party." Other parties were: "The Jailhouse Rock Party," The December "Pledge Dance," The "Christmas Party," and the "Sweetheart Dance" held with Delta Xi.

Rush was an exciting and profitable time for A.D.Pi. The chapter added twenty new pledges with the help of their Swiss Chalet formal rush party. The rushees climbed the Alps (stairs to the fire hall) to find themselves in a small Swiss village where they were entertained in the real Swiss fashion. Second semester rush added ten more girls to push the total number to sixty. the maximum number of girls allowed to join a sorority.

Alpha Xis got their pledges.

"Alpha Xi Sweetheart."

Although the Alpha Xis began their activities in the attic of Whitescarver Funeral Home, their annual fall retreat proved to be successful and very much alive. This began rehearsal for "Street Scene" (taken from "Westside Story") which took First Place in Wesleyantics. "The Alpha Xi Island" formal rush party resulted in the pledging of 19 sisters.

The saying, "It is better to give than to receive" was exemplified by a Christmas party given by Alpha Xi and Theta Xi fraternity for several underprivileged children.

Projects and parties sponsored by the Chapter included selling wrapping paper, stationery, rummage and cookie sales. Italian dinner party, Sweetheart dance, and the annual Rose Formal.

The "Fuzzies" are proud of their own Brenda J. Blake who was crowned "Sweetheart of Kappa Alpha Order."

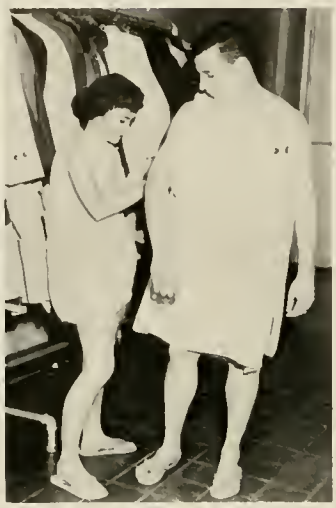
A GREEK "TWIST" TO THINGS.

"My name is Nero. What's yours?"



Hurry, or we'll be late for the orgy.

Last year saw the second annual Wesleyan Greek Week-End activity. Under the leadership and direction of Nancy Gant and Anthony Griffin, co-chairmen for the week-end, the Greeks took over the campus with a week-end busting with activity.

The Week-End started off with a Greek Sing on Thursday followed by a Greek Variety Show, "Sing Along With Miller": other activities included open houses held at the fraternity houses, workshops for hettering Greek organization, and the major activities, which were: The Service Project of holding a free movie for all the children of Buckhannon and the Greek Costume Ball.

The Greek Variety Show was written and directed by a committee headed by Nancy Gant, which was

"Sold to the highest bidder."

"Say, did you hear what happened to that nasty little man Nero?"

Oh, for the good old days!

Aphrodite would just love this place!

a take off on the "Sing Along With Mitch" theme. Jim Miller directed the choral and audience singing. Each group contributed two or three of its members for the production.

Probably, the highlight for the Week-End was the Greek Costume Ball held at the National Guard Armory to climax the week-end's activities. The costumes displayed were Greek and Roman in origin. Peter Darling and Caryl-an Dietenhofer were chosen King and Queen of the Ball.

All in all, the Greek Week-End provided the campus with an exciting view of Greek life at Wesleyan and provided the Greeks with a good chance to have some fine and constructive fun together with the Wesleyan community.

The beginning of their second year on campus saw Delta Xi Fraternity members moving into their newly-acquired fraternity house at 67 South Kanawha Street. The fruits of their labors on their new residence were revealed at the fraternity's first open house during Homecoming.

Their monthly social events, interspersed with several Saturday night open-houses, carried out such themes as a "Haunted House Party," an "Anniversary Party," a hayride, a pledge dance, a joint Alpha Delta Pi-Delta Xi Party, and several others. The Christmas season was highlighted by the Christmas dinner-dance in Elkins. Completing the social calendar, the Brothers held their annual Sweetheart Week-end dance in early May at Lake Riley Country Club.

Being the only local fraternity on Wesleyan's campus, the Brotherhood is currently engaged in the pleasant task of choosing between several national fraternities who have shown interest in establishing a chapter through Delta Xi.

"And let me say this about that."

On August 20, 1962, Kappa Sigma Kappa and Theta Xi, by unanimous vote, merged into one fraternity. Thus, the West Virginia Eta Chapter of K.S.K. residing at 87 South Kanawha Street became the Kappa Tau chapter of Theta Xi National Fraternity.

The Theta Xi guys are well known for the time and effort they contribute to the betterment of the campus community, and have the distinction of being the first Greek group to contribute to the Diamond Jubilee Campaign.

Stressing diversity, the brotherhood is well represented in all fields of competition. In academics, they were far above the all men's average, but missed by .024 of winning the IFC Scholarship Trophy. They won two Homecoming trophies for the second straight year. First Place House Decoration Trophy and Third Place Wesleyantics Trophy (1st Place last year). They also won the Christmas Door Decoration Trophy for the second year in a row. Having won First Place in May Sing competition for two years straight, the brothers finished Second in the Men's division, singing "Serenade" and "You'll Never Walk Alone." In Sports, Theta Xi returned after losing possession of the Softball Trophy by one run to sweep all three Greek League Football Trophies. Later, they won the Campus Championship by defeating their Independent rivals. Volleyball brought tears to the Theta Xi rooters as they lost the final game of a six game play-off by two points.

For all the attention given to Athletics, Theta Xi has not neglected Social Life, providing the brothers and their dates with formal and informal dances as well as numerous open houses, house parties and splash parties.

The Theta Xi Brotherhood is pleased to have the privilege of service to the college, to Buckhannon, and to the fraternity system as a whole. Kappa Tau Chapter is proud to contribute to the development of intellectual, social, spiritual and physical needs of the college man. The Sweetheart of Theta Xi is Ellen Young.

"I'm for the Old South Too."

"The Past and Present Sweetheart of KA."

"Yes this beard is really mine, why?"

Founded in the tradition of the Old South, Kappa Alpha Order is the oldest national fraternity on Wesleyan's campus. With these highly Southern traditions behind them, the highlight of the year for the KAs is the Old South Week-End in which they, as a group, secede from Wesleyan's campus and from the town Buckhannon, both secessions taking place in formal ceremonies before college and town officials. The week-end also includes a picnic, a parade, and the high point of the week-end, the Dixie Ball.

Informal house parties, "The Convivium"—the celebration of Robert E. Lee's Birthday, and the Sweetheart Dance made up a part of the KA social calendar this year with the serenade frequently adding a measure of enjoyment to their schedule.

The Kappa Alpha Order resides at 66 South Kanawha Street, where many of their social functions and house parties are held. The Sweetheart for the Order is Brenda Blake.

Phi Sigma Epsilon had an outstanding year among the Greeks on campus this year. Two Second Place Trophies from Homecoming graced their mantle: won for their Wesley-antics Skit, "Here Comes The Circus," and the other for their Float, "Smoke 'em Out, Bobcats." In addition, they were distinguished at the Fall Recognition Assembly by receiving the Scholarship Award from the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Among the social events for the year were the Fall Pledge Dance, Mid-winter Dance and their Spring Formal. Informal House Parties included "A Hobo Party," a hayride, and "The Japanese Gardens." A new tradition was started by the Phi Sigs last year, in which they combined their voices with those of the girls in their serenades.

ANTIGONE

"Antigone, what you have done is unforgiveable."

"But, Creon, I saw her with my own eyes."

On November 2, 1962, Playshop presented Antigone by Jean Anouilh which was taken from the Greek classical tragedy of Sophocles. The play opened after Antigone's two brothers have had a civil war and have killed each other. Creon, the King, full of righteousness ordained that one of the brothers be left unburied—carrion for dogs and vultures. Antigone revolted by this inhuman act plans her course of action.

THE CANADIAN PLAYERS AT LARGE

"Well, to tell you the truth it was those West Virginia hills!"

"Wow, an autograph!"

The Canadian Players made their third annual appearance at Wesleyan on November 9, 1962, in Atkinson Chapel. Their productions for this year were Shakespeare's TWELFTH NIGHT, a comedy involving twins and mistaken identities, and George Bernard Shaw's ARMS AND THE MAN, a play in which the institution of marriage and war are observed.

Both comedies were well-received by Wesleyan's theatre-going community. We look forward to their return visit next year.

"You are so superb as Blunshi." "Aw, Gee."

"Daddy, can I, can I, can I have their autograph?"

WESLEYAN SPEAKS

At the Freshman Convocation on September 20 President Stanley H. Martin took his listeners, which included students, faculty members and guests, on a tour of his study where he is now pictured. He revealed what inspiration he drew from tokens and pictures that occupied a special place in his memory and in his study.

Clearly seen is the statue of Buddha that President Martin spoke of and the picture of a solitary figure walking down the street in a small town, that was painted and presented to him by a woman student.

His last remarks at the convocation were that students put pictures up on their walls in the hope that they too would derive emulation from great persons and dwell with great ideas.

World-famous anthropologist Dr. Margaret Mead, is seen delivering her lecture entitled, "The Importance of the Individual" in Atkinson Chapel on November 1, 1962.

Highlighting Wesleyan's chapel program was Howard Ellis's chalk-illustrated sermon.

Dr. Charles Hartshorne, outstanding American philosopher, spoke to Wesleyan on Wednesday November 14, 1962.

The Karlsrud Chorale made its appearance in Atkinson Chapel March 1, 1962. Each member of the ensemble is a competent professional soloist in his own right with extensive background.

August 1962 was the first gathering of the 1962 Bobcat Hardnoses. Returning to the gridiron this season were lettermen George Lohman, Bill Wood, Steve Kapostas, Pat Mistretta, Glenn Beeson, Carl Wood, Bud Newbrough, Charley Emery, and Dan Pearce. These men, with other returning men, some strong freshman prospects, and Rookie Bobcat "Boss" Bill Pugh worked to give Wesleyan a 5-1-2 season.

The first half of the season the Bobcats breezed through Mt. Union, Fairmont, Salem, and Glenville. The second half of the season the Bobcats found the sledding a little rougher. The Bobcats dropped their first Homecoming game in years to West Liberty; the following week they tied Concord who were to be the conference champions. Wesleyan had some trouble with W. Va. Tech the following week, but they went into the locker room the victors. The Bobcats closed the season with a tie with Shephard College.

Before a kick-off at Wesleyan many students are involved in preparation for the game. One group of students who do a very important job are the members of the basketball squad who prepare the field for game time, and collect tickets. At ten in the morning in preparing for an afternoon game these men get out there and line the complete field. put up all necessary markers, and all other necessary equipment.

Another very important section of the Wesleyan sports staff are the managers. They are constantly working to keep the equipment repaired. roll "white stuff." and keep all the "Hard nosers" in tape. These men care for all the little gripes of each man on the field. The man in charge this past season was William "The Woodpecker" Cummings, who is a senior.

The Bobcats started off the season with great expectations this year. They traveled over to the Weston Shrine Tournament and took first place honors. Moving into their season schedule they had a little trouble getting up their head of steam. Mickey Reeves added new strength to the line-up at the center position. He led the team in scoring throughout the season.

Seniors Bill Grimes and John Teets did a great deal to get this team comprised mostly of freshmen to make it a successful season for Wesleyan.

Among the freshmen who tried out for the Bobcat team this season were Charlie Miller. Lynn Nelson. Jack Johnson. and Ronnie Culp. Each man added greatly to the squad and the bench.

Half way through the season Terry Moore added another shot to the Wesleyan squad. Two weeks later the squad lost Don Jimison due to illness. He did not get to finish out the season.

The Wesleyan Cheerleaders have the hardest job at any athletic match than anyone else. They have the duty of getting out and getting the students up for the game. During football. they weather the cold and the rain. they are always out there giving the team spirit, and asking the fans for more.

Janet West, and Kathy Friebertshauser will be returning to the squad next year.

The most outstanding job turned in by the cheerleaders this past year was when Josie picked up the official's hat at a football game and returned it to him. He was using his hat as a marker, incidentally!

The Bobcats split with D.&E., and Fairmont, suffering two losses from a strong team from W. Va. University.

Outstanding performances were turned in from Swee Yee Huang, a line man, Dave Particelli and Marty Connelly, playing an outstanding season at the fullback position, and Jim Pape doing a fine job as goalie.

"Now then, let's stop playing footsies and play some ball," quote Rick Edison.

The Bobcat Cinder Crew under Coach Sam Ross compiled a record of four wins, and two losses. This was the last sport for Sam to coach before he moved to a deanship.

In the quarter mile, Wesleyan had an outstanding freshman runner in John Yockel. John placed for Wesleyan several times. John Cassidy helped the Bobcats in the quarter mile. Tom Hinkle had another good year pole vaulting. Tom had some very good jumps using the Swedish steel pole: he had not tried the fiber glass pole yet.

Bill Cummings, in his first year out for track, did well at the 220, and helped the relay team. Tom DeWolf, and Dan Pearce were always strong contenders in the dashes.

Bill Wood, who was elected Wesleyan's Athlete of the year, was injured during track season, but he still did some amazing broad jumps.

The Bobcats received their two setbacks from Concord and W. Va. State. They downed Bluefield, Fairmont, W. Liberty, and Davis and Elkins. They were also strong contenders in the state meet.

The Bobcat Golf Squad under Coach Dave Reemsynder, compiled a season record of four wins, fourteen losses, and one tie. The golf squad was hindered by the loss of several top golfers who graduated. With a group of rookies, Dave Reemsynder considered this an off-year which needed much rebuilding. However, many of the schools Wesleyan competed against had top squads which made competition even more difficult for the Bobcats.

Charlie Allman and Rick Edison turned in good season records. Coach Reemsynder looks forward to a good season next year, and plans a strong squad to meet the rough competition.

The intramural program was organized this year in order to include the participation of the student body as a whole. The program was opened to both Greek and independent teams with trophies given to the winners of the Greek divisions.

Robert Guy was the men's intramural director for the 1962-63 season. The intramural program for the year included touch football, volleyball, basketball, ping-pong, and handball.

The intramural program runs from the end of September until the beginning of May. The tournaments are conducted either on a round-robin or double-elimination basis for the team sports and on a ladder challenge basis for individual sports.

In all sports keen competition is the word of the day among the Greek teams.

You find strict, and hard competition between the independents, and Greeks.

The addition of a more broadening physical education program this year has brought with it a greater opportunity for participation in the women's intramural program, Greeks and Independents alike participated in field hockey, volleyball, and basketball intramurals. Class competition found its place in the freshman-sophomore hockey game in which the freshman women proved their worth in a 7-6 decision.

The round-robin schedule of volleyball games saw the team comprised of women from the off-campus houses take the championship. Second and third places were won by Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Delta Pi, respectively.

The basketball season provided an excellent opportunity for women students to participate in a healthfully strenuous activity that improves physical fitness.

Plans are now being made to include swimming and bowling in the intramural program.

EDITOR'S NOTE

It has been said that the hands of time move fast, but the hand of God moves faster. Sometimes, when a deadline or meeting was approaching, I often thought how true this was. Producing a book of memories is a difficult thing for often one does not know exactly what memories will be brought back to what individuals by what media. Speaking not only for myself, but for the entire staff of the 1963 MURMURMONTIS, I wish to express "our" thanks to all those who have contributed in some way to make our annual a book of memories. Amidst a time of change, confusion, prejudice, censoring, and frustration for West Virginia Wesleyan College has been also an inspiration of enthusiasm and sincere dedication to principles and ideals. We of the staff have tried to capture some of these conflicts involved in growing pains. It is our sincere hope that every student of Wesleyan College will find something that will bring back the memoirs of a day past. It is also our sincere wish that each person who leafs through this volume, whether administrator, student, faculty member, trustee, or just friend will understand and see the working of many hands with clear mind and open heart.
